If your account is created using an email address containing a domain owned by an organization which you are employed by, contracted to, or volunteer for, your organization can:

- inquire about the status of your ID
- request your account settings (including your personal information)
- at its option, convert it to an enterprise ID.

If your account was created as (or is converted to) an enterprise ID, your organization manages your account information. It is also the authenticating agency for your ID, meaning your access is controlled by your organization's login service.

Obtain an IBM Cloud Feature Code

To facilitate hands-on skills development and enable you to complete some of the labs in this course, we are providing you with a special feature code for IBM Cloud.

This feature code will enable you to either create an IBM Cloud account without a credit card, or extend the validity of your existing IBM Cloud trial.

Please check the box and click on the Open tool button below to obtain a unique Feature Code and copy it. You will be able to apply it using the instructions that follow in a subsequent lab in the course.

NOTE: If you have already applied your IBM Cloud feature code in another course/lab to create an IBM Cloud account or extend its trial, please skip this item, as the code can only be used once.

The page is titled 'Obtain an IBM Cloud Feature Code' and is part of the 'Module 1 - Introduction to IBM Cloud' course. The page content includes a 'Previous' button, a 'Next' button, and a 'Bookmark this page' link. The main text explains that the feature code is provided to facilitate hands-on skills development and enable completion of labs. It states that the code will enable users to either create an IBM Cloud account without a credit card or extend the validity of their existing IBM Cloud trial. A note mentions that if the code has already been applied in another course/lab, it should be skipped. Below the text is a section titled 'LTI Consumer (External resource)' with an 'Open Tool' button. The page also features an 'Activate Windows' watermark.
